

Octavio S. Munist
omunist@sun-associates.com

EDUCATION

Ph.D. Student in Evaluation, Research and Measurement in Education, Lynch School of Education, Boston College, 2003 - Present

M. A. in Education, University of California, Santa Cruz, 1997

B. S. in Computer Science, University of Maryland, College Park, 1987

EXPERIENCE

6/2004 – Present

Evaluation Associate, Sun Associates

Serve as external evaluator on Massachusetts Title IID district technology projects and various instructional technology audits

9/2003-Present

Research Assistant, Boston College

Participated in development and implementation of technology-based research project in New England public schools focused on technology-based assessments

9/2001-5/2002

Instructor, New College of California

Teaching both courses on technology and education to meet California teacher credentials requirements

9/1995-5/2002

Community Technology Consultant

Working with community organizations in San Francisco and Los Angeles to design and implement community-based technology education programs

5/2001-9/2001

Director, Internet Technologies, Classroom Connect

Managed engineering team of online K-12 and professional development site
Selected technologies, designed system architecture, oversaw team of fifteen engineers, launched major redesign of entire site

6/1999-6/2002

Consultant, La Familia Empowerment Project, Oakland Public School District

Developed Curriculum for middle school computer literacy
Designed Web site to support home-based homework centers
Trained, faculty, staff, parents and students on use of technology

1998-1999

Vice President, Engineering, Lexical Technology

Reorganized and managed twenty person engineering department.
Launched first commercial company product, a biomedical terminology system used by the National Cancer Institute and several healthcare organizations and universities throughout the country
Participated in drafting of business plan and government proposals
Oversaw product, services and operations units
Developed plan for integration of all biomedical terminology products

1994

Consultant, Pan-American Health Organization

Wrote report about the state-of-the-art in distance education in medicine for distribution throughout Latin America

1988-1991

Research Assistant, University of California at Los Angeles

Developed object-oriented database system on top of relational database system